The information on this website comes from my own unique perspectives. Much of the information also comes from conveyances passed down through my lineage. Also, the majority of conclusions on this website come about from personal observation and meditation.

I do not use the internet as a resources because I feel this defeats the purpose of having an original and dynamic online source to symbols and signs.

Symbolic information on this website in need of fact-checking or fleshing out is made possible by this list of resources:
